Re: Authorizing an agreement with Boone County for the assignment of legacy assets, licenses and leases related to Public Safety Joint Communications.

Executive Summary

With the transfer of Public Safety Joint Communications to Boone County, this legislation would authorize an agreement with Boone County for the assignment of legacy assets, licenses and leases related to Public Safety Joint Communications (PSJC).

Discussion

Following the April 2013 passage of the countywide 911 ballot, Boone County has assumed all costs and operational responsibilities related to the 911 system effective January 1, 2014, resulting in significant annual savings to the City, County and other participants in the Public Safety Joint Communications Center. Under a 1977 Cooperative Agreement the assets of PSJC were acquired with funding provided by participating agencies: the City of Columbia, Boone County, Boone County Fire Protection District, Southern Boone County Fire Protection District, UMC-Hospital and Boone County Hospital. Participants have agreed to transfer these assets to Boone County for continued operation of the emergency radio system and associated infrastructure by Boone County Joint Communications (BCJC).
