

Wake Up!

Who are we?

Vision: An inclusive society where people Wake Up to the power of choice and the impact personal choices have on the culture of our nation and world.

Mission: To promote awareness of the power personal choice has to improve relations between a wide array of diverse groups of people, and to teach people the art of civil discourse, so that meaningful conversations surrounding controversial topics can be discussed rationally, peacefully, and productively.

Goals:

- To increase awareness of the power that choice has to improve relationships between diverse groups of people
- To challenge people to be more accepting, and open to individual differences
- To teach citizens how to engage in civil conversations
- To administer equity training to students, teachers, and administrators across the nation
- To unite people in our country and around the world through the promotion of equality and the power of choice

What have we done?

Year 1 - Created the mission, vision, and goals for Wake Up! and began rolling out the campaign.

Year 2 - Received training in dialogue and arbitration. Hosted several community wide dialogues.

Year 3 - Expanded the scope of Wake Up! to include Social Justice through Human Rights curriculum. Began expanding the campaign.

Why are we here?

Members of the Wake Up! campaign are seeking to expand their efforts by establishing Wake Up! chapters across Columbia Public Schools. Together, members will collaborate to:

- 1. Deliver social justice curriculum
- 2. Deliver social/emotional curriculum
- 3. Screen social issues documentaries
- 4. Host community conversations
- 5. Participate in dialogue trainings
- 6. Host dialogue trainings
